

Gaggle Therapy

For years, Gaggle has been helping schools prevent tragedies by identifying kids in crisis. Now we want to be part of the solution. Gaggle Therapy partners school districts with mental health professionals who stand ready to support struggling students.

How Does It Work?

-  Gaggle Therapy matches students with state-licensed therapists for weekly video sessions to help address risky behaviors or cries for help
-  Students can meet with therapists from home or school and can schedule appointments for after school, evenings, or weekends
-  Each therapy session takes place over a secure HIPAA-compliant video call, making it easy and accessible for students to meet with their therapist
-  There are no out-of-pocket costs for students to use Gaggle Therapy, connecting mental health services with students who may not be able to access it otherwise

The State of Student Safety: 2019–20 School Year

Gaggle analyzed more than 6.25 billion email messages, chats, and files

More than 150,000 items warranted immediate action by the school or district

Over 63,000 were references to suicide and self-harm—each one is a cry for help

Students need mental health support now more than ever.
Gaggle is moving beyond identifying students in crisis to addressing the crisis head-on.
